Marten Live Trap

Catch martens alive with the Marten Live Trap

The Gardigo Marten Live Trap offers you an environmentally friendly solution for trapping martens, raccoons, rabbits or even unwelcome roaming cats. The cage trap can be set up anywhere you know the animals will pass by. This can be an entrance to the garage or the house, areas in the loft or under the carport. When a marten enters the cage, the trap door closes and escape is impossible. Once the animal is caught, make sure that it is released at a distance of at least 25 km from its home area, as a precaution. Otherwise it may find its way back. This is an animal friendly way of getting rid of pesky martens without hurting them. Get your animal problem under control.

Simply place some bait inside the cage to lure the animal in. We recommend using high-protein foods such as fish and poultry. Greens and berries can also be a tasty bite for the marten. After setting up the trap, it should be checked at least twice a day to ensure that a caught animal will not get too much stress.

When using the Marten Live Trap please check the rules and regulations on species protection and animal welfare. Please observe the laws of your country and the regulations of hunting.
